Subject: KDE location confirmed

I spoke with [redacted] this morning. I had to know what the situation was for the KDE data that Tate Kunkle sent to us back in early December. KDE is [redacted] (not the father of the large [redacted] tract of land). This is a separate well from [redacted]. In fact, the property is located [redacted] Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy The property has a well and a garage but no dwelling. They have held off on development since this issue has reared up. Basically, the KDE data is a separate well and nobody is consuming this water because there is no dwelling on the property.
